Content	The Language Arts Annotated Teacher's Edition contains lesson plans for teaching the language arts skills that students learn and review on worksheet pages in the Language Arts Workbook and Language Arts Blackline Masters book. The Annotated Teacher Edition also contains all of the student worksheets, overprinted with answers. Exercises focus on grammar and mechanics, vocabulary, and spelling.
Student Experiences	Students learn and review language arts skills and concepts as they complete lessons in the Annotated Teacher's Edition and on corresponding worksheets. Together, the students and teacher read the instructions and work through several items; then students complete the worksheet independently. The worksheets include fill-in-the-blank items as well as exercises that call for students to indicate answers by circling or underlining their choice.
Assessment	After students have completed a worksheet, the teacher reviews it with them. As correct answers are identified, students are expected to proofread their work.
Organization	Language arts concepts are presented in three-step lessons: Teach, Guided Practice, and Independent Practice. Teacher material appears opposite the corresponding student worksheet in a two-page spread. Lessons in the Language Arts Annotated Teacher's Edition are organized into six units. Twelve worksheets are provided for each of the first three units, and 18 are provided for each of the last three units. The increased number of lessons in the later units allows for adequate review of skills introduced in previous units.
Resource Materials	The Kaleidoscope Teacher's Edition references lessons in the Language Arts Annotated Teacher's Edition at relevant points during the study of each selection in the Student Reader.
